

No Early Decision On New Power Rate

Municipalities Seem Likely To Accept Boost; Labor To Protest

There will be no immediate action by the Public Utilities Commission on the application of the B.C. Electric to increase its power rates.

"We have received the company's application, and our staff is now inspecting its books," D. K. Penfold, member of the commission, said today. "Until we receive a full report from our staff, which may take two weeks, there will be no decision."

In its application, made to the commission Tuesday afternoon, the company asked that revised rates be made effective on an interim basis on March 10.

"We are not certain of a public hearing," Mr. Penfold added. "That will depend upon the objections received."

The announcement of increased rates, which will increase the average household's electric light bill by about 80 cents per month, met a mixed response.

NO TIME FOR STUDY

Reeve P. A. Gibbs of Oak Bay said he had not had time to study the announcement, made Tuesday, but "since everything else is going up it's probably in line."

"Prices of other commodities have doubled since 1939," said Reeve Joseph W. Casey of Saanich. "This is the first raise in electrical rates in many years. It is still the cheapest commodity on the market." Mayor George and Reeve A. I. Thomas were not available for comment.

A "militant" protest against the increase will be launched by the Vancouver Labor Council (C.C.L.), and Victoria's main labor bodies may consider similar protest action next month.

A spokesman for the Victoria Labor Council (C.C.L.), said it was quite likely the question of power rates would be brought forward for discussion by the general membership when that group meets in mid-March.

His counterpart for the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council (T.L.C.), said that while it was unlikely the matter would be dealt with by the executive, it would be discussed, if the subject was raised at the next delegate meeting, March 7.

SENT TO COMMITTEE

City Council, who heard the submission Tuesday, referred the application to the finance and public utilities committee with power to act.

When asked by Ald. Frank Mulliner if the public should not know that present transit fares exist because of subsidy by the electrical system, W. C. Mainwaring, executive assistant to the B.C.E. president, said he felt the public was aware of the situation.

"All increases are not brought about by transit," Mr. Mainwaring explained.

B.C. Power Commission officials reported they had no plans regarding increasing rates in Nanaimo, Duncan, Ladysmith, and Port Alberni. Existing rates there vary in a few consumer departments—some higher and some lower—from those being proposed by the B.C. Electric for Greater Victoria.

SOVIETS GRAB JAP ISLANDS

WASHINGTON (UP)—Ambassador John Foster Dulles said today that Russia has seized a group of small islands just off the northeast coast of Japan and that the United States will refuse to recognize the grab.

Dulles, just returned from the Far East where he discussed a Japanese peace treaty, told a news conference that the seized islands are the Habomai group northeast of Hokkaido, the northernmost island of Japan proper. Some of the Habomai group, he said, are within sight of the Japanese mainland.

Buenos Aires Police Free Newspapermen

400 Arrested After Picket Line Crossed

BUENOS AIRES (UP)—Police today released nearly 400 employees of the boycotted newspaper La Prensa who were arrested Tuesday night after a mob killed one of their number, injured three, and damaged five of the newspaper's trucks.

More than 1,000 employees were marching back to work with the intention of publishing the newspaper and circulating it when they were fired on. They kept going, entered the plant, and were preparing the paper for circulation when federal police entered the plant and arrested nearly 400 printers and editorial workers.

La Prensa, a politically independent paper, has been closed for more than a month by a boycott of the news vendors' union, a non-employee organization which distributes newspapers. La Prensa has refused the vendors' demands for a heavy percentage of its income.

A spokesman for La Prensa said that when the police raided the plant, the workers had prepared eight columns of news and two columns of advertisements. They were planning to issue an eight-page edition today.

Workers in the shop at 8 p.m. were prohibited from leaving and at 9 p.m. police started taking them to police precinct 22 for questioning.

Second shift workers were prevented by police from entering the plant and by 10.30 p.m. only four watchmen remained.

All of the arrested workers had been released by 9 a.m. today after police questioned them in small groups throughout the night.

To Use Priorities

WASHINGTON (UP)—The National Production Authority Tuesday gave all businesses permission to use priorities in obtaining scarce materials to repair or replace worn-out equipment.

N.P.A. administrator Manly Fleischmann said the order was designed to prevent unemployment and loss of production if industrial and other equipment is allowed to fall into disrepair.

Resignation Of French Govt. Now Accepted

PARIS (AP)—Premier Rene Pleven's Coalition Government resigned tonight because of a parliamentary deadlock on election law reforms.

The resignation followed a hopeless disagreement among the major parties making up the cabinet on how to go about changes in the law preparatory to next November's general elections.

President Vincent Auriol, who refused Tuesday night to accept the cabinet's resignation, did so tonight when the government snarl became hopeless. He announced he would consult with political leaders on a successor at once.

The Premier acted after a hurried cabinet meeting called after the Assembly spurned a single ballot system of voting for next fall's scheduled general election.

The Lower House of the National Assembly turned down the single-ballot system by a vote of 311 to 295. This was a proposal supported by the Catholic Mouvement Republicain Populaire (M.R.P.), one of the three major parties in the Pleven coalition. The M.R.P. has insisted upon elections on one day only, with no runoffs the following week such as in the 1946 elections.

Before the Lower House vote, the Socialists made a surprise switch and announced it favored the single ballot proposition—but only to avoid a cabinet crisis at this time.

Oak Bay Faces Tax Insurance, School Costs

Oak Bay property owners probably will have to pay higher taxes than the present 44 mill rate this year unless the municipal council can find additional sources of revenue or can trim costs in many departments.

Higher school costs, long the bugaboo of Oak Bay Council, will force the increase if it comes about.

Finance committee chairman R. B. Wilson said today the $51,652 increase in school costs faced by the municipality amounted to five mills.

The former figure is Oak Bay's share of the $367,103 overall boost in school costs for Greater Victoria. It amounts to 21.8 per cent of the increase.

Reeve P. A. Gibbs repeatedly has said he felt Oak Bay was paying more than what he considered its fair share of costs for the Greater Victoria school district.

However, the basis of allocation of these costs is set by provincial statute, and until the law is changed, there is little Oak Bay can do but pay its share.

CONSIDERING GUARD RAILS

The public works department may erect guard rails along sections of the Alberni Highway bordering Cameron Lake where a car plunged into deep water Sunday carrying a man and woman and their adopted daughter to their death.

The resident engineer of the district conferred with headquarters officials here today on the question.

Guard rails or walls were recommended by a coroner's jury.

BACK ON BEAM

Weatherman Finally Has Bright Word

The Victoria weather forecaster, who yesterday must have been dreaming of southern California when he predicted snow flurries for today (later changed to showers), got back on the beam this morning.

"It'll be sunny today," he beamed, looking up at a sky only faintly clouded over. "Cool," he added (it was freezing last night and will be down at the same chill mark tonight). "Winds light . . . a few clouds overnight and Thursday . . ." he airily concluded.

(Editor's note—The white stuff which fell over much of southern California yesterday was real snow, residents and tourists found to their horror. Three inches of it fell near the famed Palm Springs.)

Lone Bandit Gets Loot Of $33,000

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—A lone robber held up a squadron paymaster at the sprawling Sheppard Air Force base here today and made off with a $33,000 payroll.

First reports said two armed men were involved, but Sheppard field officers later said only one bandit pulled the daring hold-up. Road blocks were set up and planes took off to search the area by air.

No Party Planned For 107th Birthday

BEEBEE, Que. (CP)—There's no party planned for today—the 107th birthday of Mrs. Emma Moir, the Eastern Townships' oldest resident.

"A birthday" has always been an occasion for a gathering of friends and relatives of Mrs. Moir, but the "Grand Old Lady" of the townships has been confined to her home in recent weeks and does not feel up to the excitement of greeting a crowd.

U.S. Patrol Probes Into Seoul; Say Reds Confused

TOKYO (CP)—Canadian troops took two key hills on Korea's west-central front today, bringing Commonwealth soldiers within striking distance of the main Chinese supply route.

The hills taken by the Canadians were important strong points in the Chinese Communist defence system. They flanked Hill 614 which was captured in bitter fighting by Australian troops Tuesday.

A front-line dispatch by John Colless of Reuter's news agency said:

"As a result of the Australia-Canadian advance, the Commonwealth Brigade tonight held a commanding ridge line within striking distance of the main Chinese lateral supply route in the western central sector—a line which the Chinese have been fighting desperately to protect."

Farther east, U.S. troops seized control of the Communists' main east-west supply highway on the central Korean front after smashing Red defences around Pangnim.

The Americans commanded an eight-mile stretch of the road from Pangnim to Hoengsong, vital road junction 28 miles to the west.

(On the central front a U.P. dispatch said the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division had smashed one mile deeper into the new Chinese Communist defence line in central Korea Wednesday but were stalled there by one of the heaviest Red artillery barrages of the war.)

The Americans were part of the U.S. 7th Division. They linked up with the U.S. 2nd Division, broadening from eight to 13 miles the U.S. control of the Red supply route.

An armored patrol of the 7th Division punched six miles into the Reds' eastern flank and came within sight of Amnigong, 31 miles south of the 38th parallel. It was the northernmost penetration by American forces on the east-central front.

REDS ROUTED

The armored patrol reported the Reds were disorganized and moving in all directions. One officer told A.P. correspondent Tom Stone the Reds might be attempting to regroup but "more likely" were moving in "utter confusion."

"Amnigong is six miles south of Changond and some 40 air miles inland from the east coast. On the western front a U.S. patrol probed into the rubbled former Korean capital of Seoul, but presumably withdrew Wednesday night.

By nightfall, only minor patrol action was reported all along the front. In the middle of the central front, U.S. 1st Marine Division patrols explored the flanks of Chinese forces north, east and west of Hoengsong—but reported no contact with the Reds.

Production Head

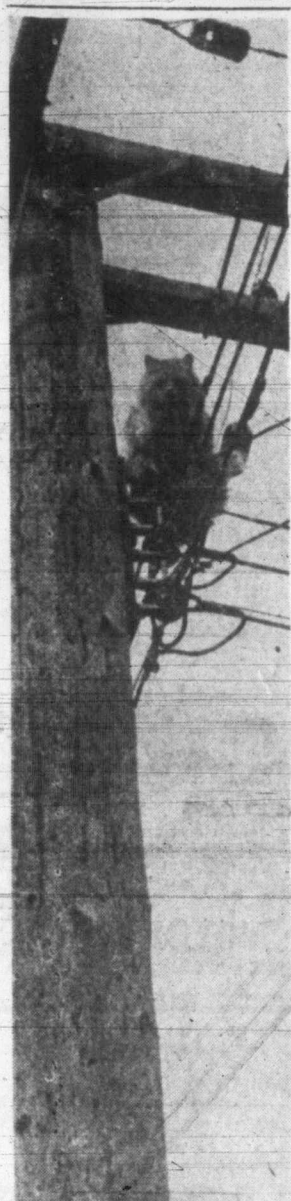

Toronto industrialist Crawford Gordon will be named production co-ordinator in the new defence production department under Trade Minister Howe, it was disclosed today in Ottawa. W. D. Low, Canadian Commercial Corporation head, likely will head another branch dealing with defence purchasing co-ordination. Max MacKenzie, as deputy minister, will direct work of pair.

WHILE PEOPLE ARGUE

No One Goes To Rescue Cat Atop Pole

A good-looking, golden-colored cat has spent its last 20 hours perched precariously atop a 30-foot power pole in Oak Bay. There is every indication the furry creature will stay there for a long time yet. Maybe until it falls or decides to jump.

The cat apparently was scared up the pole about 3 Tuesday afternoon. The pole it picked for its ascent is in a lane joining Victoria and Roslyn, between Windsor and Brighton.

Nearby, householders whose attention was drawn to the cat's plight by loud meowing, telephoned Oak Bay police and also the S.P.C.A. before nightfall. Each said it was not their responsibility to bring the cat down.

Today, neighbors contacted the B.C. Electric, the B.C. Telephone Company and Oak Bay fire department to rescue the cat. There was no response.

A resident of the area tried to climb up to reach the cat, but found the ladder he had was not long enough.

Reeve Defends Action Of Saanich Firemen In Not Attending Blaze

Reeve Joseph Casey today defended the action of the Saanich fire department in not responding to an R.C.M.P. appeal for aid to fight a fire last midnight which did considerable damage to the home of J. R. Noble, Veyness Road, Central Saanich.

"If he (Reeve Pickles) wants to gamble with lives and property, let him go ahead and gamble. . . . If they are not going to pay for the service the residents of Saanich are not going to subsidize them any more," said Reeve Casey.

Saanich council recently offered the new municipality fire protection at a cost of $1,000 a month. Central Saanich rejected offer. Following that Councillor Kersey remarked: "Reeve Pickles and his council are flitting with lives and property." Councillor Kersey said the $1,000 was a minimum charge. It cost $215 an hour when firemen were on the job "and they should not be expected to work in another municipality for less than it costs our own ratepayers."

The Saanich department, however, will respond to any fire in Central Saanich endangering a school and aid in any other emergency where a fire has got out of hand.

Members of the Sidney volunteer fire department and neighbors worked side by side to extinguish last night's blaze; not before heavy damage resulted.

Reeve Pickles had praise for the manner in which the Sidney volunteers responded.

"Despite the attitude of the Saanich council our fire department, when organized, will give Saanich all possible assistance if they care to call on us" he said. "We would have been pleased to arrange fire protection through Saanich but we felt the price of $1,000 per month was not within our ability to pay so we declined the offer with regret."

Sure is nice to know that there's a couple o' people down at City Hall who like each other.

B.C. Dairy Co-Op Boosts Price Of Butter By 10c

SALMON ARM (CP)—The Shuswap-Okanagan dairy industries co-operative association has increased the wholesale price of butter by 10 cents a pound.

Local butter wholesalers are uncertain as to the effect of the action of the co-operative association's price increase. They are investigating.

The price increase was approved at a meeting of co-operative members here Tuesday. The directors also were authorized to make representations to the federal government recommending non-essential goods and services be reduced so labor can be freed for essential industry.

It was also urged federal authorities consult and call on experienced farm leaders in formulating national farm policies.

On Ike's Staff

OTTAWA (CP)—Wing Cmdr. Garnet F. Jacobsen, 34, of Winnipeg and Ottawa, has been assigned to Gen. Eisenhower's operations and planning staff, the air force announced today.

The association increased its butter price after similar action had been taken by Alberta dairymen.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

HATS AND THE HOUSE

IN THE COURSE of conversation with a distinguished visitor from Britain who was visiting the Legislature last week, he noted that, unlike the Speaker of the British House of Commons, I was not obliged to wear the elaborate curled wig that is part of the ceremonial dress over there.

And I frankly confided that it was hard enough on a woman to have to wear a stiff tricorn hat, and don and doff it with some semblance of ease, without having to undergo the ordeal of a full-bottomed, horsehair wig on top of my hair-do into the bargain.

NOT WORN HERE

FROM THAT we passed on to the subject of the wearing of hats in the House. He was interested to hear that hats are not worn by the members on the floor, although I recalled that the late Hon. William Sloan, a former Minister of Mines, made a custom of keeping his hat on, well tipped over his eyes, when in the House. But his was an exceptional case.

That brought to mind one of the odd peculiarities of the British House of Commons. There, as here, a member speaking must, of course, stand uncovered. Yet certain circumstances arise in the Mother of Parliaments when an M.P. can only address the Chair wearing a hat and sitting in his place. That is when a division is being taken and there is a point of order to be raised.

CONDEMNED TO SILENCE

AS SUCH OCCASIONS are usually unheralded and happen quite unexpectedly, many a member has been caught unprepared. And, unless he happens to have his hat with him or can borrow someone else's, he is condemned to sit in silence in such circumstances.

The origin of this extraordinary custom is lost in antiquity, but it is believed that it dates from the early days of parliamentary history, and came into being so as to enable the M.P. desirous of raising a point of order to attract the attention of the Speaker, or chairman of committee, by keeping his seat and wearing his hat while the general body of members, on their feet and hat-less, are moving into the division lobbies.

WORE WOMAN'S HAT

AS MAY BE imagined, an M.P. who feels strongly about a point of order is sometimes obliged to resort to ludicrous methods to attract his object. Only a few days ago the decorum of the British House was greatly upset when no less than three members borrowed the hat of a woman M.P. to make their points.

First, Conservative Robert Turton, a middle-aged lawyer, stood up in the House, precariously balancing a smart blue flowered hat on his head, borrowed from Miss Irene Ward, M.P. Amid snickers, he raised his point of order. Conservative M.P. Hugh Molson next borrowed the same creation and wore it while making his contribution to the subject.

VISIBLY WILTING

THE SPRING HAT, by this time its flowers no doubt visibly wilting, then was passed across the floor to the Labor side of the House, John Rankin, M.P., donning it. Finally Hector McNeill, Secretary of State for Scotland, we are told, retrieved the hat and restored it to its rightful owner, Miss Ward.

Nor is it the first time that such a diverting incident has arisen in the staid British House. When a man's hat is available, it almost invariably happens that the borrowed hat is either too large and almost envelopes the borrower, or is too small and sits perched up like a pimple on a mountain.

RESORT TO PAPER

MEMBERS WHO HAVE not their own hats at hand and fail to induce others to lend theirs have resorted to practices, especially when some strongly-opposed Bill is being discussed in the small hours, which have caused the proceedings to become quite hilarious.

For instance, I recall one occasion when a sedate and elderly M.P. stood up to make his point while trying to balance a whole sheaf of order papers on his bald pate. Others, trying to comply with the rule that they must be "covered" while speaking, have donned cocked hats made out of parliamentary papers. As I can well imagine the gales of laughter which would arise in our own Legislature were members to be seen sheepishly wearing women's hats, or even paper ones, I am glad that, as Speaker, I am not subjected to such a diverting sight. I know it would be too much for my sense of dignity and decorum, too!

WANTS PRESS PRESENT

Open Meetings Draw Support Of Macmillan

Victoria's youngest and newest alderman is all out for open committee meetings and "let the chips fall where they may."

That was Ald. Robert P. Macmillan's stand when at the end of Tuesday's council meeting, aldermen discussed informally the advisability of committee meetings open to the press.

The meeting left the decision up to individual committee chairmen.

"I think it is a good thing to have the press present," he said. "It keeps us on our toes."

MOONEY OPPOSED

Not agreeable to the recent innovation in council procedure was Ald. Millard H. Mooney who opposed press attendance on the grounds that it "embarrassed" him to be asked questions by the public about which he knew nothing.

He referred to the fact that reports of committee meetings appear in the press prior to council meeting. He thought reporters could sit in on the meetings, but write nothing until after the City Council meeting from council.

"If they sit and report maybe for four hours and then are told not to write anything, that is not satisfactory," said Mayor Percy George with a smile toward the press table.

Ald. William Pinfold who had raised the question to get everyone's ideas said the new system was certainly preferable to the old, when reporters would have to "buttonhole" aldermen as they came out of a committee meeting and probably get three or four versions of what occurred.

He did feel, however, there were times when publication of a committee matter before it went to council was inadvisable.

ALWAYS CO-OPERATIVE

"The press have always been co-operative and I have no objection to their being present," said Ald. Percy Scurrah. "Perhaps we have been remiss in not requesting that some particular issue be not reported, at that time."

"Committee business is city business and the public has a right to know."

Ald. Margaret Christie admitted she had changed her opinion on open committee meetings. She said she had always been opposed as much of the welfare committee work deals with confidential matters. After the first meeting, however, she found the new system worked very well.

Capt. Vosper, formerly with Canadian Transport Company, has held his master's ticket in steam and sail for 31 years.

SCHOOL JOB IN DISPUTED ZONE

While work has started on the Harrow Road Cadboro Bay school, the Greater Victoria School Board has yet to apply for rezoning the site.

Saanich Reeve Casey Tuesday night told the school board the area was zoned for single family dwellings. He said a public meeting would have to be called and he knew for a fact some residents were prepared to protest.

Canadian Admiral To Share Command

Will Have Control Of Large Part Of North Atlantic If War Comes

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is expected to assume operational naval control over a large area of the North Atlantic in any new war.

But Ottawa has agreed that over-all control of the North Atlantic, including the Canadian area and Canadian ships, should come under one man, U.S. Admiral W. M. Fechteler.

This is a new concept wedded to the larger Atlantic Pact concept that defence of the whole North Atlantic area—land and sea—is one job. It has caused turmoil and friction in London, spearheaded by Winston Churchill's charges against the Labor Government of failing to uphold the "Britannia rules the waves" tradition.

There has been no similar disturbance here, although Ottawa has been watching the London developments with interest because Canada's position is not unlike that of Britain. But there appears to be a prevailing feeling, at least in naval circles, that even if it means some sacrifice of national sovereignty it is wise to have defence of the Atlantic under a single man.

If war comes, Russia's concentration on submarines, more numerous and deadly than Hitler's U-boats, is bound to make the North Atlantic even a worse battleground than in the last war. For that reason, Canada now is building a 100-ship anti-sub navy.

B.C. Population Increases

British Columbia's population increased by more than 100 families this month, according to figures compiled by W. R. Bone, regional director of family allowances.

According to Mr. Bone, 363 families came to B.C. this month, while 260 left for other parts of the country. Alberta sent 132 of the families and received 99 in return. Saskatchewan was second with 87 and 36, and Ontario third with 66 and 61.

Allowances paid during the month were again at an all time high, $1,863,757. This was paid on behalf of 312,447 children in 160,669 families.

2,813 U.N. Casualties In Korea Besides U.S.

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Figures available today show 10 countries fighting beside American and South Korean troops have suffered 2,813 casualties. This is about one-twelfth of the approximately 35,322 men they have sent to the Korean war.

The U.S. has suffered 49,191 casualties. Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff, said this week the U.S. has sent more than 250,000 ground troops to Korea.

Three other countries with men in Korea—Belgium, Luxembourg and Thailand—had no casualty figures.

Turkey, whose 5,000-man brigade has won international renown for its daring, had the highest total—948 casualties—but a third of the 1,122-man French contingent—374 men—are casualties for the highest percentage.

A breakdown, compiled from a survey of U.N. delegations with troops in Korea, follows: Australia, 1,000 men serving; 48 killed, 209 wounded, six missing, 2 prisoners of war.

Canada: No official figures since troops went into action last Wednesday.

France: 1,122 men; 44 killed,

201 wounded, three missing, 126 out of action through illness or accident.

Says Engineer Ignored Orders On Street Curbs

A charge that City Engineer Cyril Jones had "totally exceeded his authority and disregarded instructions of council" in connection with tearing out a curb at Begbie and Vining Streets was made at City Council meeting Tuesday by Ald. Waldo Skillings.

He referred Mayor Percy George to a section of the Municipal Act and said that if the city engineer was "not prepared to accept the dictates of council, we should ask for his resignation."

Ald. Skillings then stated that City Manager Cecil C. Wyatt deserved a note of censure because the matter was referred to him before Christmas and as head of administration it was up to Wyatt to see that department heads carried council's wish.

CRITICIZES MANAGER
"Mr. Wyatt has dismally failed in this matter and we should put him on the right foot," the alderman said.

According to Ald. Skillings, council last September approved a public works recommendation that a new style curb at Begbie and Vining, which the alderman termed a "pimple," be removed and the old style be replaced.

He claimed the engineer recently had cut back four feet, six inches but that was not what the council or the residents wanted.

Mayor George said he would instruct the city engineer to hold up all work for the moment and then proceed to council's former instructions.

The mayor then rose to Mr. Wyatt's defence. He said that if the situation were as Ald. Skillings described it, it was probably an act of omission, not of commission.

LONDON (Reuters)—Results of replayed matches in the Football Association Cup sixth round today:

Economic Stabilizer Eric A. Johnston lifted the wage freeze with a "catch-up" order permitting wages to rise 10 per cent above the Jan. 15, 1950, level. Organized labor did not like his action.

The wage order is effective now. The price boosts generally will not become effective until March 29. In some cases, prices may go down a trifle; others will rise. The price controllers themselves are not betting on any widespread reductions.

Johnston's wage order created more labor discontent. Although he asked the splintered Wage Stabilization Board for immediate action to permit workers to collect cost-of-living raises and some "fringe" benefits in addition to the 10 per cent, there was no indication the three labor members would return to the board. The three industry and three public members of the board may not like the Johnston request either.

Most of the automobile union contracts provide for cost-of-living boosts payable tomorrow, so the board has just one day to act.

Only about 3,000,000 of the country's 60,000,000 wage earners have had pay raises of 10 per cent above last year's levels. Most of the others have had some increase, and they may now get the rest of that 10 per cent—if their employers will give it.

Jury Suggests Guard Rails

PORT ALBERT—A coroner's jury inquiring into the triple drowning at Cameron Lake Sunday recommended Tuesday night that guard rails or walls be erected at danger points on the highway beside Cameron Lake.

Victims of the accident, drowned when their car spun twice on the icy road and slid backwards into the lake, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walker and their five-year-old daughter, Sandra, all of Courtenay.

Jury's verdict was of accidental death, with no blame attached to anyone.

At a similar inquest at Courtenay into the death of three persons whose car plunged into the Courtenay River on Sunday, the jury found death due to drowning with no blame attached "to any living person."

There was that sad case of the fellow who dreamed he was eating bread and food, and when he woke up his mate was gone. Then there was that fella who was taken to see a psychiatrist. 'All night long,' he said, 'I dream a cricket.' 'Don't you ever dream anything else?' asks the doc. 'I says the patient, 'Just cricket, night or night.' 'Don't you ever dream a girl?' says the psychiatrist. 'W screams the fella, 'and miss my bat?'"

600 Million Tons Of Ore Available, Says Duplessis

By CANADIAN PRESS
Premier Duplessis Tuesday told the Quebec Legislative Assembly that 600 million tons of iron ore have been blocked out in the adjoining territories of Ungava and Labrador.

The Union Nationale Government

ment leader said development of northeastern Quebec's iron mines is considered a matter of urgency in view of the international situation.

Leaders of parties on both sides of the Ontario Legislature charged the federal government with failure to give adequate direction to civil defence preparations.

John McDowell, P.C., Irberville, said in the Manitoba Legislature that the people of Canada now are paying for wartime price restrictions.

Speaking against a C.C.F. resolution asking federal price controls, Mr. McDowell said controls during the Second World War were responsible for present conditions.

Speaking in the Alberta Legislature Thursday, Mr. Macdonald, Ind., Calgary, called for a system of drivers' tests for operators of motor vehicles. He noted the climbing traffic fatality rate in Alberta, which has more automobiles per capita than any other province.

Bill Introduced To End Oil Curbs

Service Stations Will Remain Under License If Measure Approved

The predicted move to remove controls from the oil industry in B.C. was made in the Legislature Tuesday by Premier Byron Johnson.

He introduced the second bill of the session, an act to amend the Coal and Petroleum Products Control Board Act.

It eliminates all major controls on the gasoline and oil business of the province.

Two will remain:

1. The Coal and Petroleum Control Board, with the approval of the cabinet, will continue to control and supervise the construction of service stations and other premises where petroleum products are kept for sale; and
2. The board will continue to license service stations each year, having power to cancel operation permits for due cause.

Through the legislation, B.C. becomes the last province in Canada to free the oil industry from controls on the wholesale and retail prices of gasoline, and on grades and standards.

Nova Scotia eliminated ceilings in this field last year.

The removal of controls means service station operators no longer are guaranteed a 5 cent margin of profit on each gallon of gasoline sold.

THE HOME GARDEN

That Spray Problem No Longer Mystery

By JACK G. BEASTALL

Anything which tends to simplify some of the apparently complicated processes which make up gardening is always welcomed.

The term "apparently complicated" is used advisedly, for as soon as the basic principles are understood the process is considerably simplified.

One of the most difficult problems for the home gardener is to comprehend the many sprays which are mentioned in books on fruit growing, and to determine the correct time at which they should be applied. Especially is this difficult when only one tree of each kind of fruit is in the planting.

But, the spraying of tree fruits need no longer be shrouded in the mists of uncertainty. The Dominion Experimental Station at Saanichton has come to the assistance of the home gardener with a bulletin titled "Spraying Fruit Trees for Control of Insects and Pests."

The need for such information

BRUTALITY CLAIMED IN HORSE KILLS

Leo Nimsick, C.C.F.-Cranbrook, gave what he thought was a case for the S.P.C.A. against the government in Throne Speech debate on Tuesday.

The method of shooting wild horses on rangelands in the interior of the province had infuriated the people of his riding, he said, claiming: The policy of closing the ranges to preserve grazing land for cattle was not opposed by the majority.

But no care was taken in the killing of the horses.

The animals were being shot through the body in many instances, left to die in pain. Mares were killed and their colts left to starve.

Better Drainage, Roads Asked By Saanich Member

Drainage in Saanich and loop roads for Vancouver Island were among subjects raised in the Legislature Tuesday by Arthur Ash, Cln.-Saanich.

He said it was time the provincial government did something about septic tanks draining into open ditches, particularly in the unorganized districts although the municipal council might well be given "a helping hand" too, because of its limited funds.

Health of the people was at stake, said Mr. Ash. A survey would show there were many "sordid places" where disease could easily break out.

He said the deputy minister of health had recently pointed out the dangers in the area, adding: "I am puzzled as to why we do not act instead of talk."

He pointed to the flooding of various areas of Saanich this winter and said the government certainly should correct this condition in unorganized territory.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT

Before going to highways, Mr. Ash suggested the government institute a system of local improvements for unorganized districts.

He commended the public works department for the Patricia Bay Highway reconstruction project on which first tenders have been opened and recommended that consideration be given to including bus stop "cut outs" on the new road.

Mr. Ash pointed next to the necessity of expanding the whole road system of Vancouver Island.

CORRECTS REEVE

Pre-Primary Classes Are Essential

Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich and Mrs. W. W. McGill, representative for that municipality on the Greater Victoria School Board, clashed Tuesday night at a meeting at Craigdarroch over the value of pre-primary classes.

Reeve Casey said: "I feel pre-primary classes are non-essential. We have become nursemaids for people who want to get rid of their children while they go shopping or do something else."

Said Mrs. McGill: "The reeve is quite incorrect. Mothers these days don't want to get rid of their children. They are really serious about proper child-rearing. These pre-primary classes teach youngsters how to live and play with other children their own age."

Tourist Totals At High Mark Despite Strike

Vancouver Island just missed having a record number of car visitors in 1950.

In his annual report, George I. Warren, commissioner of Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, says that despite the harsh and lingering winter, and the steamship strike, the number of cars handled at Victoria was 53,557, carrying 154,009 passengers, a decrease of 1,136 cars and 1,804 passengers from 1949.

The total number of cars transported to Vancouver Island was 91,561, compared with 93,559 in 1949, but this was easily the second best in the history of the Publicity Bureau. The strike of steamships reduced the volume by some 6 per cent. In July and August 34,668 visitors were registered at the bureau.

The Publicity Bureau directors are of the opinion that rising costs of operations have necessitated some increase in steamship rates, but still believe every effort should be made to hold the rates on cars and passengers to the absolute minimum.

Chief items of income to the bureau were $25,000 from the City of Victoria; $10,972 in subscription; $750 from Oak Bay Municipality; and $100 from Saanich Municipality.

Among expenses, salaries accounted for $8,382; printing and cuts for $6,345; contact men and services $4,988; contribution to Evergreen Playground Association for advertising $2,741; billboards $1,853; and publicity writing $1,326.

Suggests Sidney For C.P.R. Docks

Saanich M.L.A., Arthur Ash, would put Victoria into the background in the matter of steamship communication with Vancouver.

He said in the Legislature Tuesday the government should promote a fast boat service to the mainland from Sidney or Swartz Bay.

"If we had such a service," said Mr. Ash, "I am informed we could make the trip to Vancouver in about two and a half hours."

In addition to benefiting all of the people of the southern end of Vancouver Island, it would result in further development of the north end of Saanich peninsula, he said.

SCRAP SCHOOL BOARDS

Ald. Skillings Says He'll Sponsor Motion

Ald. Waldo Skillings Tuesday night decided it would be a good thing to do away with school boards and his suggestion was received as a good idea by new Saanich councillor Pat Bate.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Dr. Henry Louis Smith, the man who President Woodrow Wilson declared did more to end the First World War than any other, died today. He was 91.

Dr. Smith devised a balloon message system which was used to drop surrender notes behind the German lines. Many Germans revolted as a result.

Both attended a Greater Victoria School Board meeting to consider 1951 estimates. Both felt the estimates too much and lamented that while municipal councils had to provide the money, they had no say in the spending.

Ald. Skillings, although a school board member himself for three years, became so perturbed during discussion he announced: "I'll sponsor a resolution at the next meeting of the U.B.C.M. to do away with school boards."

"And I'll support that," declared the Saanich representative.

CO-OPERATION WOULD CREATE GREATER VICTORIA, SAYS ASH

A little co-operation is all that is needed to bring the four municipalities of Greater Victoria into one, in the opinion of Saanich M.L.A. Arthur Ash.

In the Legislature Tuesday he said the Saanich Relief Act should be repealed at once and the Minister of Municipalities attempt to "smooth over" differences between Saanich Council and Gordon Head-Cadboro Bay ratepayers.

On Ike's Staff

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada today posted its first army officer to Gen. Eisenhower's staff in what appeared to be a move to prepare plans for the provision of Canadian ground troops for Europe.

The army announced that Maj. Allen L. Brady will be raised to the rank of lieutenant-colonel to serve as a general staff officer with Gen. Eisenhower's staff in Paris.

Confer On Move

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence officials have been sent to Washington to discuss arrangements for shipping the remnants of Canada's 25th Brigade to Korea from Fort Lewis, Wash.

The government signified today it is ready to put veterans' benefits for Canada's special force on a permanent basis.

Too Much Government, Says Saanich Member; Social Security Boosted

By LLOYD BAKER

Arthur Ash tried to warm up an old chestnut in the Legislature Tuesday when he said there was too much government in Canada.

The Saanich M.L.A. wasn't fired with much optimism in his effort, though.

He had stoked up a little on the government's plan to bring in an alternative system of voting which he thought was good hot stuff.

Then he suggested the provinces and Dominion might get together for another progressive change in the laws of the land—to reduce the number of provincial governments by giving the Maritimes one, the prairies another and leave Ontario, Quebec and B.C. cutting kindling on their own.

He didn't appear to get a spark of enthusiasm for his plan.

The former Ottawa alderman was more vigorous in tackling the subject of labor in which he looked horns with the C.C.F. after waving a red flag in that direction.

He said the Opposition had toyed long enough with the question for its own political purposes.

Only through labor and management getting together to agree on rules for the basis of labor legislation could industrial peace be gained.

The House enjoyed another homey chat from the veteran member Tom King whose general store at Golden is the nerve centre of his Columbia riding.

He talked a good deal about the 16-bed hospital back home and how it gave the perfect example of the way costs have risen to put the hospital in a new building in a jackpot.

Only 10 years ago the monthly payroll was $235 but high-falutin' operations now meant a monthly wage bill of $1,115.

The other speaker of the day was the C.C.F. member for Cranbrook, Leo Nimsick, who wanted to pick a fight on social allowances and the question of a decent standard of living for everyone.

The suggestion, he said, that the allowance may be increased by $5 a month was adding insult to injury.

Five small dollars wouldn't bring security to the needy, he declared, which brought the comment from Vancouver-Point Grey's Tilly Rolden: "The only secure person, you know, is the dead person."

Father Winch came to the rescue with a split-second retort: "And that depends on where he's gone."

TO MODERNIZE ACCOUNTING

Recommendation of City Manager Cecil C. Wyatt that the city introduce centralized accounting at City Hall and purchase equipment valued at $12,874, was approved by City Council Tuesday.

No appointment was made to fill a vacancy on the Town Planning Commission, pending a meeting of council and commission Thursday at 6.30.

All That Mattered

HASTINGS, N.Z. (CP)—After a fire in the paintshop of Hastings Hospital only one pocket remained of a pair of trousers which a painter had left on a hook. But it was the only part that mattered—the pocket contained £1 10s ($5).

Canada To Bear Own Load, Howe Tells U.S. Meeting

CHICAGO (CP)—Canada's Trade Minister, Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, said Tuesday night Canada will shoulder her full burden in the current emergency without the expectation of any free gifts from the United States.

Though the United States has 12 times the population and 18 times the productive strength, Canada never has asked the U.S. for gifts nor will she do so now, Howe said in a speech to the Chicago Commercial Club.

"We expect to carry a fair share of the sacrifices and costs of collective defence. On a per capita basis, we shall probably carry more than many of our allies."

"Some of you," Mr. Howe said, "may think that we Canadians are touchy, too ready to resent the suggestion that we are doing less than our duty in this time of peril. That may be so, but I doubt it. What I am concerned about is that my American friends should have a clear explanation of the Canadian position."

He lashed out at the "insane ambitions of the Kremlin" which were causing such a "colossal waste of human and material resources," touched briefly on the thorny question of compulsory training in Canada and intimated that when the need arises, Canada will not be found wanting, either in the quantity of her fighting men or their quality.

Rangers Want Lake In Park Lowered

Request from South Vancouver Island Rangers Inc. that Goodacre Lake be filled in to a depth of three feet was referred to a committee by City Council Tuesday.

The Rangers felt local building contractors would co-operate by disposing suitable fill for the purpose.

Mr. F. L. Wolfe, 270 West 48th Avenue, Vancouver, is a well-known and expert jeweller and for the last two years suffered from lack of energy. His appetite was not good and although he had tried many things to get relief, had not been successful. Here is what Mr. Wolfe says in his own words:

"Before taking SARNAK I was tired and run-down and had no appetite. Since taking SARNAK my appetite is that of a logger and I feel one hundred per cent better. I highly recommend SARNAK and hope many others will benefit from it as I did. After trying many other remedies without good results I almost passed up trying SARNAK but I am happy that your advertisement persuaded me to do so."

Yes, you should try SARNAK... as have thousands of others in Canada who suffer from rheumatic, neuritic and arthritic pain, sciatica, backache, lumbago or neuralgia, some minor forms of kidney and liver upsets, bilious dizziness, nutritional anemia, lack of vitality and nervousness caused by these symptoms. SARNAK is so effective for aches and pains and general run-down condition that you usually get results within the first few days.

Make up your mind to give SARNAK a chance to help you as it has helped thousands of others who had gone on day after day suffering. Thousands of bottles of SARNAK are sold every day in Canada. Remember, there are no substitutes for SARNAK. Always insist on the genuine SARNAK. In some far-off sections where there are few drug stores, SARNAK may be difficult to obtain. Don't pay anyone more than $1.35 a bottle. Order by mail from your druggist or mail order house to assure yourself not paying grey market prices. If one druggist does not have SARNAK, try another.

Webster Takes It On The Chin

It's not often that Cougar defenceman Don Webster is down, but he was last night as club physician Dr. R. J. Wride threaded three stitches in a gash in his chin. Webster was spilled into the gate to the Cougars' player box in the first period by George Defelice of the Canucks and needed to be assisted from the ice. He also suffered a leg injury. Trainer George Wilkinson is assisting Dr. Wride.

Canucks Try Hard, But Get Outwaltzed

Cougars Close On Royals With 15th Lossless Game

By BILL WALKER

Waltzing Matilda, waltzing Matilda,
Do come a-waltzing Matilda with me;
And they sang as they played
And waited 'till the scoreboard read:
Victoria 5, Vancouver 3.

Or as coach Roger Leger of the Cougars said: "If we win the league championship, nobody can say we stole them."

That was the general theme last night as the Cougars defeated Vancouver Canucks; set a new P.C.H.L. record for consecutive games at home without a defeat—15; gave away odds of prizes, and moved within four points of the league-leading New Westminster Royals.

A "Fans' Night" crowd of capacity proportions sat through the dull evening for only two reasons:

First, to await the prizegiving which took place between the second and third periods, and secondly, to hurl missiles at referee Dick Davis who had a thoroughly miserable evening.

That the Cougars won can be directly attributed to their second-period aggressiveness when they scored three goals. Outside of that one bright spot it was a lackadaisical performance with the Canucks playing like the cellar club they are, and making the Cougars look bad doing it.

Davis shared the general apathy, blowing his whistle just often enough to make his presence known, but generally ignoring what he is paid to see. Eddie Mazur, who notched his 34th and 35th goals of the campaign (tying the Cougar team mark), put the Cougars out in front at 4:33 of the first period and it remained thus until Eric Unger took advantage of a penalty to Bernie Strongman to tie it up at 5:48 of the second canto.

And it was the listless first period which may have cost the Cougars the services of Don Webster for at least a couple of games. The rugged defenceman was spilled into the boards and through the open gate of the Cougars' players box by George Defelice. He suffered a bruised muscle in his left leg and was forced to undergo three stitches in his chin.

Following Unger's marker, Tom Manasterky went off for tripping and before he could return to the ball, Stan Long had fired home a blue-line blazer to give the Cougars a 2 to 1 margin. Mazur got his second marker at the 14:11 mark by tipping in a perfect pass from Jack McIntyre, and Joe Medynski scored the winner as things turned out at 16 minutes by converting a pass from Geoff Burman.

Deciding to make a game of it while the Cougars went into their "Ring Around the Rosy" routine, Scotty McPherson and Church Russell tallied in quick order shortly after the start of the third stanza to close the gap. Suddenly realizing the importance of the situation—it was now 4 to 3—the Cougars came to life long enough for Leger to pull the trigger on a 30-footer that caught the corner of the twine. Reggie Abbott set up the clincher by carrying behind the goal and Six women and three men were taken to hospital with fractured ribs. Two children's arms were broken and three received crushed ribs.

The match, a sixth-round replay between long-shot Bristol Rovers and Newcastle United, is being played today.

VIEWS OF SPORT

By RED SMITH

HIACLEAH, Fla.—A couple of guys driving south saw an Indian maiden beside the highway about noon. "Hey, honey," they cried, "want to go to Hialeah?" She was a tender squaw, maybe 16 years old, and she gazed at the tourists with impassive, aboriginal eyes.

They drove on, wondering what she was doing up there in the swampy back country. She must have been, they decided, left home as a papoose-sitter. For, naturally, all other ambulant members of her tribe were down here attending the $50,000 added Widener Handicap, the big race which opened Hialeah's last big week of stakes races.

There were, of course, stories to be heard on arrival. A guy scarcely had time to walk through the paddock among the palms, noting how beaten up the parlay players looked after 33 days, and how yellow was the grass which the parlay players had trampled down, before somebody told about the unfortunate experience of the struggling handicapper.

This handicapper is an enjoyable gentleman who writes pieces for the papers telling his readers what's going to win tomorrow, he hopes. He is as successful at this dodge as anybody else, meaning that he gets his salary every week and if you followed his selections you'd lose yours.

There Are Touts—And Touts

On one day, the tale went, this handicapper was slightly more distracted than usual, having dipped his bill into an assortment of health beverages during the early afternoon. When the time came for him to make his selections for the following day, his eyesight was slightly glazed. He picked up a sheet of entries, ran an expert but glassy eye through the field for each race, and checked off his choices—one, two, three.

He did not have a horse in the money. And this was deemed remarkable because the sheet he had picked up was a left-over list of entries for the day before, and the races he was handicapping had all been run, and won.

The tale also was told of the tout who'd been having a hungry winter. An owner who knew and liked him met up with him at a turf club table one afternoon and spoke thus:

"Joe, I know you're a guy can keep his mouth shut. Don't breathe this to a soul, but I've got a mare going next Thursday that can't lose. Never mind the price; just get aboard and get healthy."

The tout had his doubt, but sure enough, when the following Wednesday rolled around, there was the owner's mare in the next afternoon's fifth race. That night Joe hocked everything he had—all the clothes save those he was wearing, his binoculars, his stop watch, even the small diamond-ring his mother had left him.

It Was A Good Thing, Too

He had $600 when he went to the track on Thursday. In the third race, the solidest sort of filly showed up on the board at 3 to 5. Confident that he could pad his bankroll and improve his score on the fifth, Joe went for $300 on the filly. She kissed the eighth pole, as the boys say. Struggling to recoup, Joe went for another $300 on the fourth. So when the fifth came up he was empty except for a handful of silver.

Wandering forlornly through the paddock, he came upon a bookmaker—yes, Virginia, there are bookmakers—who asked the reason for his anguish. There was, Joe explained, a mare on the board priced at 30 to 1, and she couldn't lose, and he couldn't bet on her. The bookie said the mare hadn't a chance. Joe said she was a kick-in. "A thousand to one she can't," the bookie said, and Joe dug up his hard money.

The mare bounced in by six lengths. Alongside the rail near the wire, Joe plucked off his hat, hurled it to the ground, jumped on it, screaming curses.

"A thousand to one," he screamed. "And me with a lousy buck going."

Lies like these were still flying around when a big field of 16 horses paraded for the Widener. While 22,688 witnesses howled, Three Rings and Navy Chief led the pack around the track and into the home stretch, where it seemed that the whole field tele-scoped on the leaders.

By A Length And A Quarter

Down the middle of the track came Brookmeade Stable's Sunglow, a good, honest colt that finished fourth in the Kentucky Derby last year. Doug Dodson, a good, honest boy who hadn't ridden a winner during the meeting, steered Sunglow to the front, struggled with his mount as the horse lugged over in front of the others and came careening under the wire with a length and a quarter to spare.

The crowd was howling. Four sensible boys were giving an exhibition of Indian dancing in front of the tote board. The "objection" sign flashed on the board. A guy stood alone in the winner's enclosure with a big gold cup under his arm and nobody to give it to.

The stewards ruled out the claim of foul, and the word, "official," winked in the centre field. They gave $33,100 to Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane, who owns Sunglow. The braves and squaws pulled the wrestling papoose apart. The vanishing Americans vanished behind the tote board.

Boxla League Frowns On New Ruling

The Intercity Lacrosse League is not in favor of the rule recently adopted by the B.C. Lacrosse Association under which the ball will be put into play by the goalkeeper after goals are scored.

This was decided at a league meeting in Vancouver last week. As a result of this decision, it is probable that the league will operate under the old ruling whereby the ball will be returned to the centre circle following goals.

However, two rule changes were made. The white line extending from the goal crease to the side walls has been abolished and the player-cutting deadline has been changed from July 1 to June 18. Teams must be down to 20 players at that date.

A proposal by Shamrock coach Arnold Ferguson that the size of the goal crease be cut down was taken back to the clubs by team delegates for approval or rejection.

Fulham Eleven To Play In Canada

MONTREAL (CP)—Walter Keller, Dominion Football Association secretary, has announced that Fulham, famous English League soccer club, will sail for Canada May 15 on the Empress of Scotland.

The Fulham club is scheduled to play two matches against other touring teams. The games will likely be played in Vancouver, Toronto or Montreal.

A New League Record

Proudly displaying sweater No. 15, symbolic of the Cougars' 15th game without a defeat on home ice, coach Roger Leger was in happy frame of mind for a brief moment following last night's P.C.H.L. game with Vancouver Canucks. Cougars defeated Canucks, 5 to 3, to set new league mark. Team has been undefeated at home since Dec. 22, when it lost to Tacoma Rockets. Included in lossless string are 13 victories and two ties. The old record was shared by New Westminster (1949-50) and the Cougars.

Mat Game's Buffalo Bill Deserts Six-Gun For Feet

By BILL HOLLAND
Frank (Buffalo Bill) Murdoch, the big drawing card at Rocky Brook's Club Sirocco wrestling matches last night, turned out about as phony as a three-dollar bill.

He didn't do much legal wrestling, but when it came to performing any illegal tricks of the trade, he was in there like a bird dog.

His opponent, Maurice LaChapelle of Montreal, evidently believed in the modified proverb "do unto others as they do unto you," and did just that.

Maurice won the first fall legally, and then won the second one and the match when Murdoch insisted on kicking him in the back while poor Maurice was on the ropes. The tall Texan complained bitterly about the decision, and could be heard to say to a patron busily pumping his hand up and down: "To beat these local boys you've got to beat the whole crowd."

CLOSE ATTACHMENT

The second main event of the evening featured Dale Kiser and Lou Mesera and was a good match which went a full hour. The bout started out cleanly, but the fans later on began to deprecate the antics of Montrealer Mesera, and alas and alack, he turned out to be a villain. But everything turned out all right in the end, because after threatening to kill each other, they shook hands, and laughed (?) in each other's faces.

Things proved interesting in the prelude bout when Pierre Labelle and Bud Riddell got snugged in the Indian death-lock. The two handlers managed to get the mat-men untied after taking numerous bits of advice from the fans. The bout ended in a draw.

M-G-M Is Having Trouble With A Demanding Woman

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — There's a crisis at M-G-M over Lana Turner's new contract. She's demanding "half of Fort Knox" on the theory that she can get it as a free lance star.

Gree Garson's Buddy Fogelson is taking his medic's advice seriously. Alarmed by his second heart-attack, Fogelson has turned his ranch and oil interests over to his business manager's supervision and will take it easy from now on.

Peter Lawford will get a flash from his M-G-M bosses that will knock him for a loop. He'll be rushed into "Ivanhoe" as Sir Walter Scott's dashing swash-buckling hero on the strength of his derring-do in "Kangaroo."

Errol Flynn and Stewart Granger had to turn the role down.

Judy Garland now has a high-powered press agent, Bill Hebert. It's been suggested by a TV producer that Hollywood should give an Oscar for the best film made specifically for TV. I'm not holding my breath.

Presenting Sagas Of A Few Who Were Lost In Shuffle

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In its constant worship of success, Hollywood usually ignores the sagas of those who don't succeed. Here then are some stories that may jog a few memories:

Lee Bonnell came to Hollywood in 1939 with a big hula-balo. He and a promising younger girl were winners of the "Gateway to Hollywood" contest conducted by Jesse Lasky. He won an R.K.O. contract and played in 12 pictures in three years, including the lead in a film with Lucille Ball.

After three years in the Coast Guard during the war, he returned to his R.K.O. contract. But he got lost in the shuffle. After doing two pictures in the period of a year, he was dropped.

He tried free-lancing for a year with scant success. "Then I realized that in the event my wife wasn't working, our kids would starve," he says. "So I turned to something more stable—the insurance business." There he found success, selling close to $1,000,000 worth of policies last year.

And the girl who won the "Gateway to Hollywood" contest? She's Mrs. Bonnell, also known as Gale Storm.

GIRL WRITER

Ann Marie Vaeli wanted to write. Specifically, she wanted to write for the movies. Like many another budding young writer, she soon learned the frustration of trying to peddle scripts to the studios. But unlike the others, she didn't give up. She had an inheritance and she used it to buy

BRITAIN TO COUNT NOSES

LONDON (AP) — Overcrowded Britain, recently termed "probably the most vulnerable target in the world" in an atomic war, will have its first nose count in 20 years, beginning April 8.

Defence, housing, and emigration men will have a special interest in the total, which unofficial estimates indicate may top 51,000,000. Sixty-thousand enumerators will take the census, first official count since 1931. By chance, the Republic of Ireland will take its own the same day. The British census will cost £1,125,000.

It has been thought by many people, including Gilbert himself, that "Yeomen" is the finest of all products of the famous collaboration.

The Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Society and their sponsors, the Gyro Club of Victoria, are to be congratulated on bringing this masterpiece to the stage of the Royal Theatre where it opened, Tuesday night. Performances will be given tonight and tomorrow, and on Saturday, the production will travel to Duncan where it is to be presented—again for charity.

It was pleasant to find Pamela Newton featured for the first time, in the role of the sergeant's daughter who vainly loves the dashing Colonel Fairfax. Miss Newton has a lovely warm quality in her lyric soprano voice and definite ability as an actress.

Pauline Barnett brings petite charm and a clear, powerful soprano to the role of the wandering player.

Generally speaking, the show had a tendency to drag Tuesday night.

Jack MacDonald and Jim Mead-Robins in the "Cock and Bull" duet presented the most professionally delightful work of the entire evening.

Alan White is not a stranger to leading roles with this organization; his fine tenor is a considerable asset and with each production he becomes more at home on the stage. Good performances were turned in also by Evelyn Rogers and Ivan Howell. The Tower of London setting and the costumes, especially the striking "Beefeaters," were extremely well done.

To the new music director, Harry Bigsby, must go an immense amount of credit for the quality of the chorus singing and general tautness and co-ordination of the musical side. All other aspects of the production had fallen under the capable direction of Victor Mills.

In a letter to the council, read Monday, he stated his action would be based on "illegal action" by the mayor and certain council members.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This Syrup, at Home

You'll be surprised how quickly a bad winter cough can be relieved, when you try this well known recipe universally used throughout Canada. It's no trouble to mix, and costs but a trifle.

Into a 16 ounce bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. This makes four times as much cough medicine for your money. Never spoils and tastes fine.

Quickly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the phlegm, helps to clear the air passages, and soothes the irritated membranes. This explains why it brings such quick relief. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat irritations. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

FOR EXTRA CONVENIENCE GET NEW, READY-TO-USE, PREPARED PINEX.

A Report to the Electrical Customers of the B. C. Electric:

For the first time in history, the B.C. Electric is filing an increase in residential rates and in "small use" industrial rates.

The general reason is that since 1939 the costs of supplying electricity have more than doubled while the price has gone down about 25%.

In 1939 the average price paid by householders on Vancouver Island was 3.57c a kilowatt hour. By 1950 this had dropped to 2.13c.

The immediate reason is a further substantial increase in wage costs, effective March 1st, and a sharp rise, since the outbreak of Korean hostilities, in the prices of materials and supplies that we use to serve you.

In the meantime, in order to supply you with the utility services you require and to avoid "brown-outs," our large program of expansion must be carried on. During the five years from 1946 to 1950 we spent $108,000,000 for the improvement and expansion of our services. During the next five years our planned program for over-all requirements is estimated at $111,000,000.

For the successful financing of this development it is necessary that our net revenues be adequate to continue to attract investment from life insurance companies, trust companies and private investors among whom are several thousands of our customers.

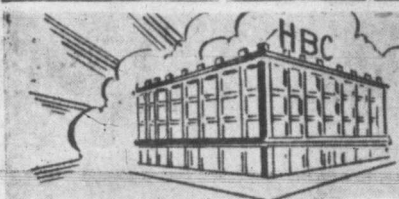

The change in electrical rates is chiefly in the number of kilowatt hours that are sold in the first and third steps respectively, while in Greater Victoria the rate of the first step is increased from 4½c to 5c a kilowatt hour. The increased cost per family in Victoria will average 2.7c a day, and not exceed 4c a day except for users of very large amounts.

Power rates are being increased for industries whose electrical bill is typically 1% or less of their total cost of production.

The new rates will increase our revenues from electrical services by 10.2% (Vancouver Island system, 7.4%). They will leave the price of the electricity we supply below the 1939 level. Electricity will be one of the very few things you can still buy at pre-war prices.

Sun shining through the office windows made me think of spring... Spring inevitably turned my thoughts to the problem of spring cleaning that is just ahead for you busy housewives.

Women's Group Shown Through Weaving Plant

At a recent meeting of Victoria Home Economics Association, members were shown through the Island Weavers' plant, 820 Esquimalt Road, by Mr. V. Howland, a member of the staff of that firm.

Mr. Howland gave an interesting talk on the origin and history of the firm. He also gave a detailed account of the many processes through which wool must go, from the time it leaves the sheep until it is ready for weaving.

"These processes," he said, "have not varied greatly in the centuries—only the means of processing have been modernized by introduction of more modern machinery. The methods of weaving have remained essentially the same for generations past."

Samples of finished materials, in plain and beautifully designed plaids and fancy weaves, were displayed and a short explanation given of how the various weaves and patterns were produced.

New Members—Following a membership tea held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Lynch, several new members were welcomed to the recent meeting of Ladies' Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Villa.

Mrs. Lynch, president, reported on memorial window donated to the chapel, in honor of Sister Mary Ethelreda and Sister Mary Priscilla. Plans were made for entertaining the patients on St. Patrick's Day and Easter. Committee in charge are Mesdames J. Chadderton, C. Rawlings, W. Stuart Smith, W. McAllister and T. Hartnett. Arrangements are being made for annual spring tea by the committee, Mesdames M. Russell, Rawlings, I. Pethebridge, W. McAllister and Lynch. A purchasing committee was appointed to buy comforts for the patients; they were Mesdames Lynch, J. Edmison and A. Whitehead.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Fell In Love At Age Of 10, But Boy Next Door Grabbed By Another Girl; She Still Pines

Dear Mary Haworth: When I was 10 years old—I am 33 now—I fell in love with the boy next door. I loved him all through my teens, even after he moved away and became involved with an unscrupulous girl whom he subsequently married, when he was 19 and she a year younger. My family liked John, but mother wanted me to marry Charles, the son of her girlhood chum, who lived in another city.

As a means to that end, she invited Charles here and installed him in our guest room. This put an end to John's visits, and soon afterward I heard of his marriage. Two months later I married Charles, who turned out to be a thorough cad, and we were divorced when I was 21. I never was able to forget John; all through the years I dream of him, just as he was at 19; and after one of these dreams, in which I seem to see and hear him so vividly, I have an almost uncontrollable desire to get in touch with him.

I have met him only twice in 15 years, each time by chance, when I was waiting for a bus. He gave me a lift home; and the last time he stopped along the road "to talk about us," and we cried like babies over the way our lives had been ruined. He said that some way, somehow, we would be together again. Still, he hasn't separated from his wife; and I don't mean that I want him to; my only concern is to overcome my grieving, if possible, which prevents me from marrying anyone else.

HEARS HER HERO IS BALD AND FAT

Mutual friends who see John occasionally tell me he has grown heavy and bald, and that I would be shocked at the change. I am not so shallow as to stop loving a man only because he has lost his hair or his figure. Such changes are gradual and unimportant if you live with a person and love that person for himself. But if you are parted for years and any drastic alteration in appearance occurs, it naturally causes emotional shock; and this may be just what I need to cure the "love" I have been harboring for 20-odd years.

The only way I remember him is with his youthful boyish face, curly hair, straight even teeth and the boyish charm that so endeared him to me. Should I seek him out, and destroy forever that mental image I carry of him? Or should I continue to stay apart, obsessed with the notion that I shall never get over him? The thought that I may go to my grave without seeing or being with him again makes me feel that I shall never have been happy on earth. Please try to help me, and don't delay, as I am seriously disturbed today. I ran into John's mother who says she still keeps my picture and still regrets that I didn't become her daughter.

E. F.

THIS ISN'T LOVE: IT'S SHOCK STATE

Dear E. F.: Your obsessional attachment to memories of John as he was at 19 cannot be construed as evidence that you've been loving him ever since; or even that he was potentially "the answer to prayer" if you'd won him as a life partner. Rather it means that you've never recovered from the shock of his marrying another girl. He dealt your spirit the awful wound of "rejection," which virtually wiped out your self-esteem; and without quite knowing what's wrong with your life, you've been emotionally blocked ever since.

Also it seems contradictory that your family would like John, as you say, yet disapprove of him for you. And although you emphasize your love of him, there is little testimony to suggest that he reciprocated the sentiment seriously in his pre-marital years; or, for that matter, at any time since.

WHY GROW OLD?

Guard Colds Against More Serious Complications

Let me remind you once more that this is the peak time for colds and influenza with sinus trouble and tonsillitis following close behind. Why not make a game this year of seeing how few colds you can have, or if you can possibly reach summer without another one.

Not long ago in this column I gave you the most useful preventive measures—plenty of sleep, avoidance of overeating or overdrinking, and a high intake of vitamins A and D.

Today I would like to concentrate on the reasons for dreading the common cold and for taking care of yourself when you have one. The sneezing and coughing and sniffing are unpleasant enough but the real danger is that of complications.

Pneumonia is almost always preceded by a cold. The pneumonia bug thrives in the infected mucus which is so abundant when we have a cold. While the great majority of pneumonia cases now recover because of the newer drugs, we certainly do not want to take a chance on it.

If you do not get pneumonia you may have lingering ear or sinus or bronchial trouble following a cold you neglect. The risk just isn't worth it. Over and over again you have heard the advice, "Go to bed when you have a cold." That is good advice, and it is foolish to feel you are babying yourself by taking to your bed when the sneezes start.

In the first place, a day spent in bed at the very first onslaught of a cold often nips it in the bud. Then, too, you will not spread it to others if you isolate yourself. Also you will protect your own health and life.

It is bad enough to walk around with a cold when you do not have fever. If you do have fever and don't go to bed, you are flirting with real danger.

DECEIVES HERSELF ABOUT THE RECORD

All things considered, it occurs to me that your parents were trying, as best they knew how, to help you save face and pull you through a protracted siege of frustrated longing for John's love, when they smoothed the way for Charles to marry you.

As of now, you are craving excuse to see John again, more than you are concerned to reorient yourself to reality. And if you were to see him tomorrow, and his appearance startled you with its gross dissimilarity to your inner picture of him, still that wouldn't cure your fixation. As soon as he was out of sight, and the mood of the meeting had waned, you would relapse into your fantasy world where he is enthroned as 19-year-old hero. Your escapist trend, passively indulged, may lead to mental illness if you don't correct it soon. However, youth is on your side as yet. And you should enlist expert psychological help to overcome your unconscious fear of more rejection—if and when you begin to move towards a good heterosexual love partnership with somebody. You are prisoner of this fear, rather than a slave to John's remembered adolescent appeal.

Decorate with leaves of cherry slices.

Two City Homes Featured In Display To Be Shown At Triennial In Athens

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Pictures, plans and specifications of two modern Victoria homes will be shown as Canada's contribution to an exhibit on the progress of housing construction during the postwar period, at the triennial convention of the International Council of Women in Athens, Greece in March.

Twenty-two countries will participate in this exhibit.

The Canadian display was planned, arranged and assembled by Mrs. Elsie Shepherd, 900 Tolmie Avenue, chairman of housing and town planning on the Dominion's National Council of Women.

Mrs. Shepherd was recently named member for a three-year term on Victoria's new Town Planning Commission.

When she was commissioned to do this piece of work for the national council, Mrs. Shepherd lived in Winnipeg, but soon afterward, she and her husband moved to Victoria to make their home.

BACKGROUND

"It really was immaterial where I might be living," she explained, "for the homes were selected for layout and modern functional features, not for construction."

"It was understood construction would vary in whatever part of Canada the homes were built."

Then she added quickly, "Of course, the plans had to be architecturally sound."

The finished display, neatly arranged on a varnished wooden folder, gave very little indication of the work that went into its composition.

First, Mrs. Shepherd consulted realtors, architects, mortgage and housing corporations.

With representatives of these groups she weighed and measured types and classes of homes and the various features that made them liveable.

War-time houses were ruled out, Mrs. Shepherd explains, because they were only available to veterans.

"It finally boiled down to that group of houses most desired by and within the price range of the so-called white-collar class," she said.

There was a twinkle in her eyes as she added, "And don't think my troubles were over when that was decided."

"Then the actual houses had to be found."

HOMES CHOSEN

After looking at hundreds of plans and many types of houses, outside and inside, it was decided to use two homes built in the last few years and now occupied by the owners and their families.

"The first home, priced at $8,000, is available to the low or average income bracket, the citizen earning around $200 a month," Mrs. Shepherd said, as she carefully turned the pages of heavy white paper on which her display is arranged.

"The other house, costing from $7,500 to $10,000, would be available to the middle income bracket."

In each case Mrs. Shepherd has arranged the display to show plans of the land with the house in place and with proposed land.

LIBERAL WOMEN

Women's Apathy To Politics Discussed At Ottawa Meeting

OTTAWA (CP)—The well-worn criticism that women are apathetic toward politics cropped up at tonight's meeting of the National Federation of Liberal Women, an open session.

The federation's executive has been holding closed sessions here in conjunction with the three-day annual meeting of the National Liberal Federation's advisory council.

A review of feminine political enthusiasm in the provinces brought from Mrs. Hazel Atkinson of Westbrook, Cumberland County, N.S., the comment that "women by their indifference to all things political are helping to create war."

The president of the Nova Scotia organization said that "the great reserve of electoral strength which is not too articulate is the women's vote."

Mrs. G. W. Kissick of West Vancouver, B.C., suggested that women's liberal organizations set up committees to study the progress of the United Nations.

with particular emphasis on Canada's position.

Presenting her report as president of the B.C. organization, Mrs. Kissick emphasized the need for women "to be at all times well informed on matters of the day . . ."

Reports were presented by Stefania Sigurdson of Riverton, Man., and Mrs. George Inman of Montague, P.E.I. Others who spoke included Mrs. E. J. Mooney of Saint John, N.B., and Lady Squires of St. John's, Newfoundland.

Would Merge Two Govt. Departments
Amalgamation of the Department of Trade and Industry and Fisheries with Lands and Forests, and that of Railways with Public Works, was suggested in the Legislature Tuesday by Arthur. A. C. C. S. Saanich, as an economy move.

He said essential services should not be eliminated, but there appeared to be a great deal of room for saving in governmental departments.

B.C. Packers' Dock Vancouver Burns
VANCOUVER (CP)—A fire at the B.C. Packers Ltd. dock, which brought under control Tuesday night about an hour after it mushroomed in the congested waterfront area. Toll was not expected to be high.

Two fire barges and eight fire trucks pulled water on the blaze. The British freighter Thistlehead lifted anchor and small fishing craft withdrew.

Final Answer Given On Wheat
LONDON (CP)—Hugh Gaitskell, Chancellor of the Exchequer, gave a two-word answer today when asked what additional sum would be paid to Canada under the final settlement of the four-year Anglo-Canadian wheat contract.

"None, sir," Gaitskell told the House of Commons. He was replying to Col. O. E. Crowthwaite-Eyre Conservative member for the New Forest.

Burgess Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Teeter the Spotted Sandpiper had reached his winter home and glad enough he was to be there. He was on an island way down south in the land-of-always-summer. He was running happily along the edge of the water, leaving dainty little footprints in the sand of a lovely beach. Perhaps it was the very beach on which Robinson Crusoe found the footprint that warned him he was no longer alone on the island on which he had supposed there was no one else, for Teeter's winter home was on Robinson Crusoe's island.

A LOVELY PLACE

Of course Teeter knew nothing about this. It was enough for him that at long last he had reached his journey's end in what he was sure was one of the loveliest places in all the great world. And well might he so think. On one side stretched the blue, blue sea until it met the white, white sky. On the other side graceful gray-trunked palms leaned over the soft sand. It was a place to do nothing but rest in, and aside from getting his food, which was fun rather than work, that is just what Teeter meant to do until Miss Spring should whisper to him that it was time for him to go with her back north.

"Peet-weet! Peet-weet! Peet-weet!" he called happily as he ran along at the edge of the water, stopping to stand teetering on his slim legs as if he never could quite get his balance. Then he made a short flight over the water, almost touching it, to a ledge of black rocks out in the water. On one of them sat Grandpa Pelican. Teeter landed on a neighboring rock.

"I see they didn't teach you up north to get your balance," said Grandpa Pelican, and made a noise that might have been a laugh at his own joke if Pelicans can laugh. I never have heard that they can, but I never have heard that they can't.

TEETER DISCOMFITED

"I always have my balance."

You've never seen me lose it," retorted Teeter. He spoke a little sharply. "I teeter because I like to teeter," he added.

Grandpa Pelican yawned, and what a yawn that was! You know he has a big and very long bill and when he opens his mouth in a yawn it is something to see. "Is anyone else likely to come down here from up north?" he asked when he had closed his mouth.

"Plunger the Osprey is on his way, but he is taking his time, fishing as he comes," replied Teeter.

"I hope he never gets here. I hope he gets lost on the way, or something," said Grandpa Pelican. He said it as if he meant it.

"Why do you say that? What's the matter with Plunger?" cried the little sandpiper.

"He eats fish," replied Grandpa Pelican.

"But you eat fish!" cried Teeter.

"Of course I eat fish. They are what I live on. That is why I hope that big fish thief won't get down here this winter," retorted Grandpa Pelican.

"But he isn't a thief any more than you are," protested Teeter.

"He is just a fisherman the same as you. A fish isn't yours until you catch it. He doesn't rob you," declared Teeter.

"I see they didn't teach you up north how to get your balance," said Grandpa Pelican.

"He catches the fish I would catch if he didn't. Anyway these are my fishing waters," retorted Grandpa Pelican. He sounded cross. But perhaps that was because he hadn't a pleasant voice. "I wonder to whom the fish would say they belong," tittered the little sandpiper. "Perhaps Plunger thinks you catch his fish," he added.

"Well, I don't. I don't go up north in his fishing waters, but he does come down in mine," declared Grandpa Pelican harshly. It was plain that he was disgruntled.

Drastic Changes Listed To Reduce School Costs

Representatives of Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, discussed school costs for three and half hours with Greater Victoria School Board last night.

Municipal representatives declined the board's budget of $2,607,707 was just out of line, and argued their respective local governments would have great difficulty in providing the $1,908,450 share demanded from them.

PROPOSALS

With Victoria's Alderman Waldo Skillings and Saanich's Reeve Joseph Casey and Councilor Pat Bate leading the way, the council representatives suggested, among other things:

Drastic reduction of the board's staff of 35 tradesmen, having instead, school maintenance work done by contract; elimination of school groundsmen, having instead, working agreements with municipal parks departments; elimination of school cafeterias which operate at an annual deficit of $2,815; elimination of the eight pre-primary grades at the bottom of the Greater Victoria school system and elimination of Victoria College at the top.

BOARD REPLIES

School board answers to these suggestions were:

That the experienced school board staff did better work, more efficiently and at less cost than outside workers; that school grounds required considerable attention and municipal councils might not want to undertake their maintenance; that no school cafeteria anywhere operated at a profit, but that cafeteria service was demanded by the public; that elimination of either pre-primary or college here would be a retrograde step.

The meeting agreed that it would be a good thing to have a plebiscite to determine whether people wanted school cafeterias; and that it was unfair for property owners to have to shoulder the burden of school costs.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

When this hand was actually played, declarer won the opening lead with dummy's ace of clubs, laid down the ace of spades, then finessed the jack of spades. West won with the queen of spades and led another club, forcing South to ruff. South then drew the rest of the trumps.

If the trump is considered all by itself, South had handled it best. The finesse was his best chance to avoid the loss of a trump trick. However, once the trump finesse had lost, South was sure to be set.

When South led diamonds, West could take his ace and cash the rest of his clubs. Even if declarer had not drawn all of the trumps, the result would have been the same. After South had ruffed a club, he had only as many trumps as West. Whenever he led diamonds, West would take the ace and return clubs. West could therefore stay one trump ahead of South.

If South had considered the whole hand instead of merely the trump suit, he would not have taken a finesse in trumps. The right play is to take the ace of spades and follow with the king of spades. South then switches to diamonds.

The best defense is for West to win the ace of diamonds and lead clubs. South ruffs and then ignores the two trumps that are still out. He merely leads diamonds and hearts until West takes his two trump tricks.

The correct line of play loses two trump tricks but makes the contract. The wrong line of play loses only one trump trick but fails to make the contract.

CARD Sense

Q—With both sides vulnerable, able, your partner deals and bids one spade. The next player bids two clubs. You hold: spades K-Q-8-2, Hearts 7-6-2, Diamonds 9-8-4-3, Clubs 5-3. What do you do?

A—Bid two spades. This is a borderline free bid since you have only one honor trick. However, you have fine four-card trump support and a side doubleton—so you cannot afford to pass.

U.S. UPS JACKPOT OF PRIZES OFFERED URANIUM PROSPECTORS

WASHINGTON (AP)—To pep up domestic prospecting for uranium in the U.S., the Atomic Energy Commission today offered new jackpot prizes as high as $35,000 for hunters of the precious A-bomb material.

Applying such payoffs even to low-grade ores, the A.E.C. said the new bonus offered will not take the place of its long-standing—and still uncollected—prize of $10,000 for prospectors who deliver 40,000 pounds of high-grade ore from a newly-discovered deposit. The A.E.C. also said it will pay more for uranium-bearing ores of the Colorado plateau, richest known source of the metal in the U.S.

U.S. Prices Undergoing Big Shuffle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Government Tuesday unfroze the retail price of clothing, furniture, rugs, lamps, drygoods and household textiles, and clamped a new freeze on the retailer's "margin" between what he pays and what he receives.

Many price increases are expected but officials say they expect some price cuts. Price director Michael V. Disalle told reporters: "My guess is that the rollbacks will be greater than the roll-forwards."

Disalle's office of price stabilization issued the first of a series of "margin-type" orders designed to put price controls on a "fairer and more workable" basis than could be expected from the freeze of Jan. 25.

The action affects about 233,000 retail companies. It covers an estimated 200,000 different items of merchandise.

These retailers must get on the new basis no later than March 29. They must mark their goods with selling prices by July 1.

Disalle announced: "The basic objective of this regulation is to establish typical pre-Korean mark-up practices at retail."

But, the percentage of margins, or mark-ups, was not rolled back to a pre-Korean date.

On the contrary, each retailer will base his percentage on the percentage he received last Saturday, Feb. 24.

Boost Oil Output

LONDON (CP)—Britain's output of refined oil products last year totaled 9,400,000 tons compared with 2,500,000 tons in 1938. New refineries under construction are expected to increase the output to 21,000,000 tons by 1953.

San Francisco Whitened By Snow

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Snow sifted down over many parts of San Francisco today. The higher elevations, such as Twin Peaks, were whitened and slush formed on the streets. In Golden Gate Park the trees took on a faint mantle but there the snow melted as it hit the ground. In downtown San Francisco there was a moderate cold rain.

Gen. Lemay Slated For Extra Job

St. Laurent Makes Charge On Wheat

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent and Progressive Conservative members tangled in a short, sharp exchange in the Commons today over wheat. The Prime Minister charged Opposition members with trying to "make political capital" out of the question of a supplementary payment from Britain on wheat purchased in the five-year pool. Gordon Graydon, acting Progressive Conservative leader, in turn accused Mr. St. Laurent of "playing to the grandstand."

P.U.C. Will Study B.C.E. Boost Plan

The Public Utilities Commission will take no immediate action on the B.C. Electric application to increase its power rates in Victoria and Vancouver areas, D. K. Penfold, commission member, said today. "Until we receive a full report from our staff, there will be no decision," he said. A report may take two weeks to be filled out, he added. The proposed boost—estimated at 80 cents per month per Victoria household—will be protested by Vancouver labor bodies and may also be protested by Victoria's main labor groups, it was shown today. Victoria City Council, which heard the details on the proposed boost yesterday afternoon from B.C.E. aides, referred the application to the finance and public utilities committee with power to act. B.C. Power Commission officials, meanwhile, said they had no plans to increase rates in Nanaimo, Duncan, Ladysmith, and Port Alberni.

To Get Report On Five Suspensions

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer is receiving a detailed report on the temporary suspension of five officers from the R.C.M.P. detachment at Kelowna and is expected to make a statement on the question before the end of the week. No explanation of the suspension has been made but W. B. Hughes-Games description that "it's a housecleaning—purely a matter of internal discipline." The detachment strength normally is 17 men but in recent weeks had been down to 13. The five officers under suspension have been replaced.

Canucks Capture Two Key Hills

TOKYO (CP)—Canadian troops took two key hills on Korea's west-central front today, bringing Commonwealth soldiers within striking distance of the main Chinese supply route. The hills taken by the Canadians were important strong points in the Chinese Communist defence system. They flanked Hill 614 which was captured in bitter fighting by Australian troops Tuesday. A front-line dispatch by John Colless of Reuter's news agency said: "As a result of the Australia-Canadian advance, the Commonwealth Brigade tonight held a commanding ridge line within striking distance of the main Chinese lateral supply route in the western central sector—a line which the Chinese have been fighting desperately to protect."

Expected In This Weekend

Casualties Are Believed Light
VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadian battle casualties from Korea are expected to arrive here this week-end, it was reported today. They will be flown from the fighting front for treatment in Shaughnessy Military Hospital. "We expect wounded to be arriving here this week-end or early next week," an official, who asked his name be withheld, said. "So far we have had no official word." The Canadians, members of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, went into action in Korea a week ago. Their casualties were reported light. At the hospital here it was not known how many of the wounded would be sent to Shaughnessy.

Says Russia To Start War When Odds Favor

WASHINGTON (UP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay told senators today that Russia will start World War III whenever the odds in its favor are great enough. He said such odds may never prevail if the United States sends troops to Europe. The former U.S. military commander in Germany testified before the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees in support of administration plans to commit six U.S. divisions to Eisenhower's Atlantic Pact command.

Gambler Indicted In Basketball Scandal

NEW YORK (AP)—Salvatore T. Sollazzo, charged with being the "fixer" in the college basketball scandal, was indicted today for income tax evasion by a federal grand jury. He was charged with reporting a net income for 1944 of $28,740.65 when his true income was $265,633.59.

U.S. Combat Soldiers Have Their Own Ideas Of Luxury, On Leave

WITH U.S. FORCES IN KOREA (UP)—Combat soldiers going on five-day leave in Japan after seven months in Korea have their own ideas of luxury and how luxurious you can get. At a waiting station, a group from the 2nd Infantry Division killed time as they waited for transportation to take them to an airport on the first leg of the trip to Japan—a heaven of civilian luxury where they spend five days doing exactly what they want to do without taking orders from anybody. As they waited some read pocket size books, others read comic books and some just talked. I joined a small circle sitting on the floor and asked what was the first thing they intended to do when they got there. Cpl. Frank Farone, 21, of Cleveland, O., spoke up first. Farone, leader of a heavy weapons squad, sat on his rolled sleeping bag, his back against the wall, and stroked the Mexican model moustache he had been growing for three months. "Well, I'll tell you," he said, "The first thing I want to do is get a haircut. Why? Well, look how long the stuff is. I want to get a shampoo job. Haven't had a shampoo in a barber shop in eight months—that was back in Korea." "Then I'm going to order one of those great big steaks. That will be an appetizer. Then I'll have some chicken with French fries and some good fresh milk. Man, I miss my milk. Then I'm going to take a little walk and get a little beer."

B.C. BUTTER SHORTAGE PREDICTED

An acute butter shortage in British Columbia within a few weeks was forecast today with the report that coast dairymen are refusing to sell their butter at prevailing prices here but are shipping it east at higher prices. Vancouver retailers today were selling butter at 63 cents per pound, mainly from government stocks which the federal authorities are selling for 60 cents per pound. Shortages were blamed for the soaring eastern prices. In Winnipeg in the last two weeks the price has reached 71 cents and stocks have dropped in half.

Gas Dealers To Protest

A province-wide delegation of gasoline dealers plans to protest early in March the government's proposal for lifting of controls on sale of gasoline and oils, it was revealed this afternoon. The delegation came to Victoria to seek control only over the "retail spread"—the difference between wholesale and retail prices. The dealers are members of the automotive division of the Retail Merchants' Association. Members of the association here and in Vancouver and New Westminster have already filed a protest with the government. Division Chairman Alfred Higgins said today: "It seems inevitable that without control someone with no business sense will start cutting prices. "Before we had control there was never a time without a war of some sort."

Wire Strike Postponed

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A threatened strike against the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company was postponed today.

Vice Probers Find 'Lucky' In Power

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate crime committee reported today that at least two major crime syndicates exist and Charles "Lucky" Luciano, deported vice king, unpires their disputes. The committee named Frank Costello and Joe Adonis as heads of one syndicate with its "axis" between New York and Miami. The other has its axis between Miami and the Chicago Capone syndicate now headed by Tony Accardo, the Fischetti brothers and Jake Guzik, the committee said.

Weatherman Finally Has Bright Word

The Victoria weather forecaster, who yesterday must have been dreaming of southern California when he predicted snow flurries for today (later changed to showers), got back on the beam this morning. "It'll be sunny today," he beamed, looking up at a sky only faintly clouded over. "Cool," he added (it was freezing last night and will be down at the same chill mark tonight). "Winds light... a few clouds overnight and Thursday and it's airily concluded. (Editor's note—The white stuff which fell over much of southern California yesterday was real snow, residents and tourists found to their horror. Three inches of it fell near the famed Palm Springs.)

Russ Grab Isles Off Japan Coast

WASHINGTON (UP)—Ambassador John Foster Dulles said today that Russia has seized a group of small islands just off the northeast coast of Japan and that the United States will refuse to recognize the grab. Dulles, just returned from the Far East where he discussed a Japanese peace treaty, told a news conference that the seized islands are the Habomai group northeast of Hokkaido, the northernmost island of Japan proper. Some of the Habomai group, he said, are within sight of the Japanese mainland. Dulles said, however, that the Habomais ordinarily are not considered part of the Kuriles and that any treaty that the U.S. signs with Japan should not assign them to the Soviets. As a result of the Soviet move, he said, Japanese fishermen are unable to sail around the northern tip of Hokkaido. Dulles also: 1.—Said he would be greatly disappointed if a Japanese peace is not completed by the middle of this year. 2.—Disclosed that he had suggested a further treaty talk with Jacob Malik, Soviet delegate at the United Nations, and that Malik had agreed, although no date has been set. 3.—Preliminary treaty talks have set the stage for the U.S. to draft a text—work that will begin soon. 4.—Japan has agreed in principle to let U.S. air, land and sea forces stay in Japan after a treaty is signed.

Cat Is Puzzle

A cat which spent Tuesday night atop a power pole on a lane joining Victoria and Roslyn between Windsor and Brighton mysteriously disappeared this afternoon as police, firemen and the S.P.C.A. pondered how to remove it.
